Website Hosting Hosting comes in many shapes and forms. Unfortunately weeding the good from the bad can be difficult and this is where our development team come in. If you talk to the large IT companies they will generally try and sell you a dedicated server, giving you a number of reasons why spending annual fortunes on hosting with them is good for your business. In fact the opposite is usually the truth; in general a dedicated server for single sites is simply overkill. The other extreme are those people that believe that you don't have to pay for hosting as there are "lots of free services on the Internet". The truth lies somewhere in between.

Email Hosting Support It can provide a number of email hosting solutions. Our team can register and fully customise email addresses at your own domain name. We have great features available including:

- Web Mail
- Anti Spam
- POP3
- Exchange & Push Mail Services
